

The passing of Bahram Bayzai, the distinguished filmmaker and director of Iran

Saturday, December 27, 2025

With a heart full of sorrow and deep sadness, I extend my sincere condolences on the passing of Bahram Bayzai, the distinguished Iranian filmmaker and director. His unparalleled contributions to the world of art and cinema have left a lasting and unforgettable impact on Iranian culture and beyond. His unique vision and unwavering commitment to art not only shaped Iranian cinema but also carried the spirit of our people to audiences around the world.

I will always remember the moment when Bahram Bayzai received the Special Jury Award for his film Ragbar at the first Tehran International Film Festival in 1972. Those were hopeful days for Iranian cinema, and in that moment, Bahram's boundless genius was clearly evident.

I extend my condolences to his respected family and to the art and cinema community of Iran. May his soul rest in eternal peace, and may his memory continue to inspire future generations.

Farah Pahlavi